Early Entrance (4 + 1) and Undergraduates Enrolling in Graduate Courses

With permission from the student’s academic advisor, graduate program director, and director of graduate and professional programs, undergraduates may take nine (9) credit hours at the graduate level (500 and above) and may take one (1) graduate course per term*.

Depending on the admission policies of each graduate program, up to twelve (12) credit hours of graduate coursework may be counted for both the undergraduate and the graduate degrees (see individual program guidelines*).

Full-time and part-time undergraduate students intending to enroll in graduate courses or the early entrance programs need to meet the following criteria:

1. Have a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher (see individual graduate program GPA requirements) and meet the general admissions criteria of the selected graduate program.
2. Have earned a minimum of 60 undergraduate credit hours.

Full-time and part-time undergraduate students intending to enroll in graduate courses or the early entrance programs need to obtain several permissions:

1. Complete the graduate studies permission form.
2. Receive permission from his or her academic advisor.
3. Receive permission from the graduate program director and the director of graduate and professional programs.

*M.Ed and M.Acc EE students may take up to twelve (12) credit hours toward the program and may take up to three (3) courses per term with special permission.

*MPPA EE students please see specific program policies.
